To Whom It May Concern,

My Company, Sephora, had the pleasure of inviting Christopher Coleman to speak at one of our Leadership Conferences in June 2013. It was one of the most impactful experiences I have experienced in my 14 years with Sephora. His level of engagement and his ability to connect with each individual in the room left the entire group impacted. His life story and focus on living a fully engaged life left many with a call to action both professionally and personally. My company is looking to utilize his talent again in the near future.

Thank you,

Elizabeth Carroll
